

Makayla Sumrall

Akeel Ahmed Senior Managing Editor Makayla Sumrall has made many achievements on the track as well as in the classroom. Sumrall has proved herself more than dominant on the track, setting the school record for the girls 200 meter dash, and in school she has been able to maintain a GPA of 4.02.

Sumrall will be attending Boston University in the fall of 2019 to further her education in hopes to one day become a psychiatrist. In the classroom, Sumrall focuses by always making her education a top priority and making sure she enjoys herself in the process. She applies this to every class and will continue to use this as she hopes to thrive at Boston University, in her studies of psychology. After taking Advanced Placement (AP) Psychology with teacher John Czech, Sumrall fell in love with the human mind and the functions of it. Sumrall hopes that her major in psychology and her minor in neuroscience will work hand in hand to help her become a psychiatrist.

Teacher and Student Assembly sponsor Emily Collias along with Kaleigh Sims helped inspire Sumrall to push herself to keep earning more medals, continue breaking records, and work as hard as she can to become faster. Sims and Collias have been a guide for Sumrall, helping her juggle a top 10 spot, break records, and of course, have fun along the way.

Sumrall did not seem to struggle balancing AP classes, being president of Student Assembly, represent the body of the track and field team at Student Athlete Leadership Team (SALT) meetings, taking part in the National Honor Society, being Student of the Year her junior year, and even occasionally volunteering at the local hospital.

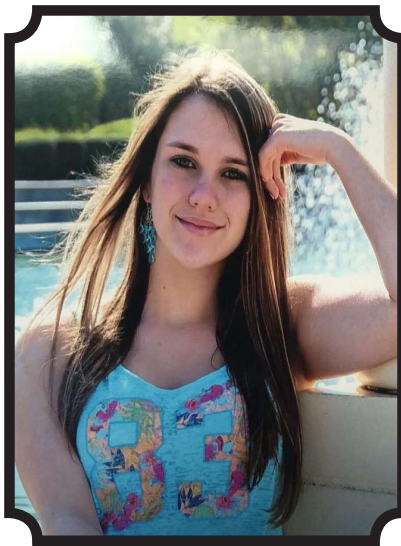

Sumrall's experience here at Roseville has been quite the ride. Although she had many obstacles come her way, they did not prevent her from achieving her goals. Sumrall has always used her parents support and thanks them for everything they have done for her.

"My parents will always be my biggest inspirations. They've always given their all for me and have presented me with everything I could possibly wish for," Sumrall said.

Sumrall has always loved competing in track, but she is unsure if she will be able to focus on college along with track at the next level. If Sumrall is unable to balance the two, she will still run at an intramural level.

As Sumrall prepares to move to Boston this fall, she hopes that she made an impact here at RHS and hopes to do the same at Boston University.

Sarah Bouchard

Tyra Hill Everyone who Copy Chief has made it into the top 10 has worked extremely hard, and Sarah Boucher is no exception. Boucher has maintained a 4.065 throughout high school, placing her at number seven on the top 10 list. Boucher has taken a few Advanced Placement classes, including AP Composition her junior year and AP Literature her senior year. Boucher has always had a passion for helping people, which is why she will be attending Oakland University in the fall for nursing. Although she has also been accepted into with accepted into University of Michigan and Wayne State, Boucher has had her sights on OU since she was a freshman.

"A lot of my family goes there and it just feels like the right choice. I can't wait to start my future," Boucher said.

To add onto her love of helping people, Boucher has also been a member of Link Crew for two years and is forever grateful for the opportunities she has had to help freshmen and be there for them. She is also a passionate art student and a member of marketing class who runs the Panther Den.

"Being apart of the Panther Den is probably one of my favorite things about senior year. Marketing is a great class that I recommend for everyone," Boucher said.

Boucher says she would not be anywhere without her family as they are her main support system, and they are always pushing her to reach her full potential. She knew her freshman year that being in the top 10 was one of her goals, and she worked hard to keep all A's in order to maintain her GPA. She made sure all her work was turned in and that she kept up with all her assignments.

"My advice to underclassmen is to stay on top of things, but do not let it consume you. These four years go by fast, so make it count but do not slack off. Find a balance and stay there," Boucher said.

Cody Quiroz

Miranda Bolinger Cody Copy Editor Quiroz

is ranked eighth in his class and has upheld a GPA of 4.055. Quiroz has participated in many activities around the school, including being president of Symphonic Choir, vice president of Drama Society, drum major of the marching band, a member of National Honor Society, and a member of Student Assembly. Starting in the fall, Quiroz will be attending the University of Michigan Ann Arbor. He wants to double major in music and also along the lines of business so that he always has backup plan.

"I am not exactly sure what my plan is after college. I have a few ideas but you never know what life is going to throw at you, so I do not have a set plan," Quiroz said.

Quiroz took some challenging classes over the past four years including, Advanced Placement (AP) Composition, AP Chemistry, AP U.S. History, and AP U.S. Government. While in school, he had lots of support from some of his favorite teachers, including Tina Collins, Samantha Jordan, Emily Collias, and Eric Mattison. He also received a lot of support from his family and friends.

"Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Collias, and Mr. Mattison are the four main teachers I have had that have helped me along the way. They are the best and I do not think I would be where I am today if it was not for them," Quiroz said.

Quiroz has always given it his all with making memories along the way and will forever cherish them, weather it was inside or outside of school.

"My all time favorite high school memory would either be getting an almost perfect score at states with my choir solo or acting a fool with my friends whenever we got the chance," Quiroz said.

Quiroz has worked hard for all that he has accomplished and has been working towards this goal since freshman year. He is excited and relieved that he made the top 10.

Katie O'Herron

Miranda Bolinger Kay-tlin Copy Editor

O'Herron holds a GPA of 4.05 and is ranked ninth in her class. O'Herron has participated in many extracurricular activities such as the marching band, jazz band, symphonic band, martial arts, and National Honor Society. She will be attending the University of Detroit Mercy to work towards her bachelor degree in psychology and social work. Eventually, she wants to work herself up to law school, and after that, she plans on becoming a child advocacy lawyer to help give a children a voice.

O'Herron has taken several Advanced Placement (AP) classes to challenge herself over the years, including AP U.S. Government, AP Psychology, AP Composition, and AP Human Geography. While in school, she had lots of support from some of her favorite teachers, including Emily Collias, Samantha Jordan, Dan Chesher, and Eugene Randolph. Her parents, along with her martial arts instructors, have always supplied their unconditional support, helping guide her along the way.

"Mrs. Collias and Mrs. Jordan have inspired me to do well and stand strong for what I believe in. Mr. Chesher and Mr. Randolph have given me someone to talk to when I need it the most," O'Herron said.

O'Herron's favorite memory was band camp every year of high school. She experienced and learned new things every year, along with making new friends.

"It is an opportunity to be with your friends as well as help some new marchers feel more welcomed into the band," O'Herron said.

As she prepares for the transition from high school to college, O'Herron leaves underclassmen, as well as her fellow seniors, with the advice to always do your best in whatever you are doing as that is all that you can do.

Anthony Normandin

Tyra Hill Anthony Copy Chief Normandin is a well rounded and gifted student, pulling in an impressive 4.045 grade point average (GPA), ranking him number 10 in the senior class. Normandin has attended Roseville schools all his life, going from Fountain Elementary to Roseville Middle School and finally ending it here at RHS. He has had many accomplishments over the years, thanks to his handful of Advanced Placement (AP) classes he has taken over the course of his high school career. His junior year Normandin took AP Composition, and this year he is taking AP Calculus and AP Biology, which is no surprise since he will be attending Michigan State University (MSU) in the fall for biochemistry.

Although he was accepted into a handful of colleges, including Oakland University and Wayne State University, he knew MSU was the right path for him.

"I have always wanted to work in a lab, and the biochemistry program and MSU is definitely going to help me pursue that," Normandin said.

Along with outstanding academics, Normandin has had his plate full with after-school activities and sports. He is a member of Link Crew, captain of the swim team, and a well-known trumpet player for our marching Panthers. He has been in Link Crew for two years and is a member of the swim team and marching band his entire high school career. Some of his favorite high school memories occurred at band camp.

"Band Camp definately holds a lot of my favorite memories and I'm going to miss it alot," Normandin said.

Normandin wants to not only thank his family, but the friends he has made along the way who have pushed him to strive and achieve his goals. While he says being in the top 10 is not that big of a deal to him, he is still grateful. He wants to thank fellow top 10 students Andrew Wikarski and Natalie Terry-Martin for pushing him to do better in school, along with Dan Eckert, Kyle Taylor and Noah Wells for making the last four years bearable.

Normandin not only leaves this advice to underclassmen, but to his younger sister who is an eighth grader at Roseville Middle School as well.

"Do your homework, and always stay ahead of the game," Normandin said.
